SNOW ME DOWN

"Why does ye' want ta' go skiing?" grumbled Popeye as he helped Olive climb into the car. "Skiing is for sissikies!" mumbled Popeye as he hopped into the front seat.

"You're mad because you don't know how to ski," replied Olive. "Skiing isn't a sissy sport. Skiing is lots of fun. You'll have a good time, just wait and see!"

Popeye toated on his pipe, turned up his coat collar and pulled his hat down over his ears. "Skiing is for sissikies," he muttered as he started the car.

Off they drove toward the snow covered mountains. Hours later, they arrived at the ski slopes. Olive hopped out of the car. Quickly, she began to strap on her skis.

"Let me help you with these, beautiful," shouted someone near the ski lift.

Olive looked up. Who did she see? It was Popeye's old rival, Brutus. He was the local ski instructor.

"Where's Squinch Eye?" Brutus asked as he helped Olive put on her skis.

"I yam right behind ye'," answered Popeye as he stepped between Brutus and Olive. "Me Sweet Peteetie and me kin do wit out yer help!" he snapped.

"Is that so?" replied Brutus angrily. "I didn't know that you knew how to ski!"

"I yam a fask learner," said Popeye.

"Boys! Boys! Stop arguing," ordered Olive as she got to her feet. "Brutus, since you're a ski instructor and Popeye is only a beginner, you can give him a few, fast lessons and then we can all go skiing together," suggested Olive.

"Yes, that's a good idea," agreed Brutus slyly. He had a devilish plan to get rid of Popeye. "Let's get on the lift and go up the slope. This is gonna' be lots of fun," he stated.

Popeye didn't like the look in Brutus' eyes, but he agreed to go along for the ride. If he didn't learn how to ski and learn fast, he'd be left out and left behind.

Popeye strapped on his skis, picked up his ski poles and got on the lift chair with Brutus and Olive. Up the mountain they went. When they reached the top of the slope, they hopped off.

"You wait here, Olive," said Brutus. "I'll take Popeye over to the beginner's slope and give him a few tips before we start our downhill run."

Instead of taking Popeye to the beginner's slope, Brutus led him over to the ski jump.

Brutus aimed Popeye down the hill. "The first thing you have to do in order to ski well, is to close your eyes," Brutus said. "Then start counting. Don't open your eyes until you reach ten!"

Foolishly, Popeye obeyed. Popeye closed his eyes and started to count. Gently, Brutus gave Popeye a shove in the wrong direction. Down the hill toward the ski jump Popeye sped.

"So long, sucker!" laughed Brutus as he started back toward Olive.

Popeye narrowly missed crashing into tree after tree as he zipped down the snowy slope. He flew down the ski jump and rocketed high up into the air. Finally, he reached ten and opened his eyes.

"Yaiks! I yam skiing on air," he cried as he spied the snow far below.

Then, like a falling star, he plummeted out of the clouds and sped nose first toward the ground.

Smash! Popeye crashed face first into a snow drift.

"Where's Popeye?" Olive asked Brutus when the ski instructor returned without her boyfriend.

"Stop worrying about Squinch Eye and give me a little kiss," replied Brutus as he pulled Olive into his arms.

Olive shrieked! She screamed! She begged for Popeye to help her.

Meanwhile, Popeye had turned into a human icicle. He was half frozen, but when he heard Olive calling for help he got burning mad.

His pipe turned into a blow torch and melted the snow drift into a puddle of slush. Out of his coat pocket came a can of spinach. Out of the open can and into his mouth went the spinach.

"Wham! There was a flash of light! Popeye the Sailor was immediately transformed into Popeye the Super Skier! Then, Popeye did the impossible. Using his pipe like a jet engine, he skied up the slope toward Olive and Brutus.

Like a snow plow out of control, Popeye plowed into Brutus fist first.

Brutus sailed high into the air, landed headfirst on the slope and rolled down the hill like a giant snowball. When he reached the bottom of the mountain, he looked like a snowman.

Popeye and Olive spent the rest of the day on the slopes. When it was time to go home, Popeye admitted that he'd had a good time. "Well, snow me down," he cried. "Skiing isn't a sissikie sport!"

"In training youngsters to play baseball, there is simply no substitute for practice. The same applies to shooting a Daisy B-B gun.

Practice makes you a better shooter. And when you start hitting bullseyes, it gives you a real sense of satisfaction. I know, because I've been hitting bullseyes with Daisy B-B guns for over 35 years.

Now I'm teaching my son Marc to shoot. Right from the start, he's developing coordination and skills that will help him in any sport. At the same time, he's gaining the confidence that will help him grow up to be the man he wants to be."
